A CHANCE TO PARTICIPATE IN RESEARCH: Thanks to a grant from Canadian Heritage, the Canadian Teachers' Federation is sponsoring a study (by a University of Ottawa research team) on the shortage of teachers in French-language schools in minority settings. If you have left a teaching position in a French-language school to go and teach in an English-language school (French immersion, FSL, other), in another province, or in another French-language school board, or you have changed career, they would like to hear about your professional experience.
